

Out of the Past
by David Kidman

It is not the correct time
For our love
Meeting
Out of the past
At the deserted gas-station
Where we are together only in the future
And the present is merely hopeless
Looking back
I never chanced another meeting
But buried my hands in fire
Up to my face
And it's all up to you, love
For it is now the correct time